Report on Faculty Development Program: Effective Use of Technology in Pedagogy

Organized by: ASMA Institute of Management (In-House)

Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi

Date: 12th February 2019

On 12th February 2019, ASMA Institute of Management hosted an in-house Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Effective Use of Technology in Pedagogy. The session aimed to empower faculty members with the knowledge and skills to incorporate modern technological tools into their teaching methods, enhancing the overall learning experience for students.

The program covered a range of topics, from the use of digital platforms and multimedia tools to integrating learning management systems and interactive technologies into the curriculum. We were provided with practical insights on how to effectively utilize these tools to foster a more engaging and student-centric environment.

We also discussed the challenges of technology integration in education, and the session offered practical solutions to overcome these barriers. It was an excellent opportunity to learn how to adapt to the evolving educational landscape and ensure that we continue to meet the needs of today's tech-savvy students.

I am grateful to ASMA Institute of Management for organizing this in-house FDP. It has enriched my understanding of how technology can be utilized to create a more interactive and impactful learning environment. I look forward to implementing these new approaches in my own teaching practices.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Professionalism, File Keeping & Quality Improvement

Organized by: Institute of Business Management

Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi

Date: 15th July 2020 to 22nd July 2020

I had the privilege of attending the online Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Professionalism, File Keeping & Quality Improvement, organized by the Institute of Business Management from 15th July 2020 to 22nd July 2020. This virtual program proved to be highly beneficial, providing a comprehensive understanding of professionalism in the academic domain and highlighting the importance of systematic file management and quality assurance.

The FDP was designed to address the key areas of professionalism in educational settings, emphasizing the need for effective record-keeping and the role of well-organized documentation in academic and administrative work. We were introduced to various file management techniques, which are essential for maintaining high standards of organization, efficiency, and accuracy in daily operations within educational institutions.

Additionally, the program focused on quality improvement strategies that can be applied to enhance both teaching and non-teaching practices. Through detailed discussions and case studies, we gained insights into how quality management principles can be integrated into our workflows to optimize institutional performance and improve academic outcomes.

The virtual mode of the workshop was well-conducted, and the interactive sessions allowed for meaningful engagement, enabling participants to share experiences and discuss best practices. I am confident that the knowledge gained from this FDP will not only improve my organizational and administrative skills but also contribute positively to the continuous improvement of my professional practices.

I extend my sincere gratitude to the Institute of Business Management for organizing this insightful and enriching online FDP. The experience was invaluable, and I look forward to implementing the strategies learned to improve file management and enhance the overall quality of my academic work.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Future of Management Education Post COVID-19

Organized by: Aryabhatta College
Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi
Date: 15th May 2020

I had the opportunity to attend the webinar on Future of Management Education Post COVID-19, organized by Aryabhatta College on 15th May 2020. This online Faculty Development Program (FDP) provided a timely and insightful discussion on the evolving landscape of management education in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The webinar focused on how the pandemic has significantly altered the educational ecosystem, particularly in the domain of management studies. It highlighted the shift towards online learning, the integration of technology in teaching methodologies, and the increasing demand for flexibility in curriculum delivery to accommodate the new normal.

Through expert speakers and interactive discussions, the FDP addressed various challenges faced by both educators and students during the pandemic. It also explored innovative solutions to ensure quality education continues to thrive despite these challenges. Topics such as digital transformation, the rise of hybrid learning models, and the changing role of faculty members in the post-COVID world were thoroughly discussed.

This enriching webinar broadened my perspective on how management education must adapt to ensure the continued success and relevance of academic institutions. The knowledge gained from this program has helped me rethink my approach to teaching and has provided me with the tools to better engage with students in a virtual or hybrid environment.

I would like to express my gratitude to Aryabhatta College for organizing this highly informative webinar. The insights gained during this FDP will undoubtedly shape my professional development and assist in navigating the future of education in the post-pandemic world.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Building a Culture for Long Success

Organized by: Institute of Business Management

Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi

Date: 8th to 12th April 2019

I had the privilege of attending the online Faculty Development Program (FDP) titled Building a Culture for Long Success, organized by the Institute of Business Management from 8th to 12th April 2019. The program offered valuable insights into creating and sustaining a thriving academic culture that fosters long-term success within educational institutions.

Throughout the FDP, the focus was on the importance of establishing a strong institutional culture that aligns with the values of integrity, professionalism, and academic excellence. We explored various strategies for promoting collaboration, innovation, and continuous improvement, all crucial for maintaining a high standard of education in a rapidly evolving world.

The program also addressed how educators and administrators can play a pivotal role in cultivating a positive learning environment. It emphasized the need for resilience, adaptability, and forward-thinking to ensure that the institution's culture remains relevant and sustainable.

I gained a deeper understanding of the integral role of leadership and community-building in shaping the future of academic institutions. The FDP also provided practical approaches to implement cultural changes within an organization, focusing on long-term goals and continuous development.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to the Institute of Business Management for organizing this enlightening online FDP. The knowledge and skills I gained will help me contribute more effectively to the academic and cultural growth of my institution.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Professionalism, File Keeping & Quality Improvement

Organized by: Institute of Business Management and Research
Faculty Name: Mrs. Shweta Goswami
Date: 15th July 2020 to 22nd July 2020

I had the privilege of attending the online Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Professionalism, File Keeping & Quality Improvement, organized by the Institute of Business Management and Research from 15th July 2020 to 22nd July 2020. The program was a highly enriching experience, focusing on critical areas that are essential for the efficient functioning of educational institutions.

The FDP covered the importance of maintaining professionalism in educational settings, particularly with respect to communication, leadership, and interactions within the academic community. Additionally, it addressed the significance of effective file keeping and documentation as a tool for ensuring organized and smooth institutional processes. The sessions provided insight into best practices in file management, making it easier to manage administrative tasks efficiently while maintaining institutional standards.

The program also emphasized quality improvement techniques that can be applied in both teaching and administrative operations. By focusing on continuous improvement in both areas, the FDP aimed at elevating the overall academic experience and fostering a culture of excellence.

Conducted online, the program offered great flexibility while maintaining a high level of interactivity through virtual sessions, case studies, and discussions. It was an excellent opportunity to enhance my skills and knowledge while balancing my regular duties.

I sincerely appreciate the Institute of Business Management and Research for organizing this insightful online FDP, which has equipped me with valuable tools to improve both my professional approach and administrative practices.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Recent Trends in Business Research and Publishing Research Papers in Referred Journals

Organized by: Pratibha Institute of Business Management
Faculty Name: Mrs. Shweta Goswami
Date: 24th July 2021

I had the privilege of attending the webinar on Recent Trends in Business Research and Publishing Research Papers in Referred Journals, organized by Pratibha Institute of Business Management on 24th July 2021. This insightful session provided in-depth knowledge on the emerging trends in business research and the best practices for publishing research in reputable journals.

The webinar covered the evolving landscape of business research, focusing on contemporary methodologies and the increasing importance of interdisciplinary approaches. We explored the growing emphasis on data analytics, big data, and artificial intelligence in business research, as well as how these tools can significantly enhance the quality and depth of research outcomes.

A major highlight of the webinar was the discussion on the publishing process. The session focused on identifying high-impact journals, understanding the peer-review process, and aligning research with international publication standards. Experts shared valuable tips on how to effectively navigate the submission process and improve the chances of publication acceptance.

In addition to the technical aspects of research publishing, the webinar also emphasized ethical considerations in research, such as plagiarism, proper citation practices, and the importance of maintaining research integrity.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Pratibha Institute of Business Management for organizing this enriching webinar. The insights gained will not only enhance my research skills but also provide me with a stronger foundation for publishing in reputed journals.

Report on National Seminar: Innovation and Intellectual Property Rights

Organized by: AISSMS Institute of Management

Faculty Name: Mrs. Shweta Goswami

Date: 21st August 2021

I had the opportunity to attend the National Seminar on Innovation and Intellectual Property Rights organized by AISSMS Institute of Management on 21st August 2021. This informative seminar delved into the critical relationship between innovation and intellectual property (IP), highlighting their significance in today's fast-evolving business and technological environments.

The seminar offered a comprehensive overview of intellectual property rights, including patents, copyrights, and trademarks, while focusing on how businesses and innovators can protect their intellectual assets. Experts shared insights on the legal aspects of IP and the importance of IP protection in fostering innovation and entrepreneurship.

One of the key highlights of the seminar was understanding the various mechanisms available for safeguarding new ideas and innovations, as well as the challenges involved in the IP process. We also learned about the role of IP in global markets and how it drives competitiveness in industries.

I would like to extend my gratitude to AISSMS Institute of Management for organizing this valuable seminar. The knowledge I gained has enriched my understanding of intellectual property and its role in business innovation, which will prove beneficial in my professional journey.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Research Methodology

Organized by: ASMA Institute of Management
Faculty Name: Mrs. Shweta Goswami
Date: 15th November 2021 to 21st November 2021

I had the privilege of attending the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Research Methodology, organized in-house by ASMA Institute of Management from 15th November to 21st November 2021. This comprehensive program aimed at enhancing the faculty's understanding of various research methodologies and techniques essential for conducting high-quality academic research.

The FDP covered a wide range of topics, including the fundamentals of research design, data collection methods, and statistical tools commonly used in research. It also focused on advanced research techniques such as qualitative and quantitative analysis, ensuring that participants were equipped with the knowledge to handle diverse research challenges in their respective fields.

Through interactive sessions, case studies, and hands-on activities, we gained practical insights into structuring research projects, formulating hypotheses, and analyzing data effectively. The program also emphasized ethical considerations in research, ensuring that all findings are credible, reliable, and ethically sound.

I am grateful to ASMA Institute of Management for providing such an enriching learning experience. The knowledge gained from this FDP will undoubtedly enhance my research skills and contribute significantly to the academic excellence of our institution.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Discipline in Education and Professionalism

Organized by: Wings Aviation & Hospitality

Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi

Date: 7th to 11th February 2022

I am pleased to share my experience attending the Faculty Development Program (FDP) titled Discipline in Education and Professionalism, organized by Wings Aviation & Hospitality from 7th to 11th February 2022. This program offered insightful discussions and practical approaches to enhancing discipline in the educational environment and fostering professionalism among educators.

The sessions were meticulously designed to address key aspects of maintaining discipline within classrooms and ensuring a high level of professionalism in all educational practices. I gained valuable knowledge on how to incorporate these principles into my daily teaching routine, enhancing both the academic environment and student-teacher relationships.

The FDP provided a platform for engaging with fellow educators, exchanging ideas, and reflecting on best practices for personal and professional growth. I am confident that the insights and strategies I have learned will have a positive impact on my approach to teaching and contribute to creating a more disciplined and professional learning atmosphere at ASMA Institute of Management.

I sincerely thank Wings Aviation & Hospitality for organizing this enriching FDP, which has significantly contributed to my professional development.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Research Methodology

Organized by: ASMA Institute of Management
Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi
Date: 15th November 2021 to 21st November 2021

I am pleased to share my experience of participating in the in-house Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Research Methodology, conducted by our ASMA Institute of Management from 15th to 21st November 2021. This program was designed to enhance the research skills of the faculty and provided valuable insights into the various aspects of research methodology.

The sessions were focused on key areas such as research design, data collection methods, statistical analysis, and how to effectively write and present research findings. The discussions and practical exercises helped me strengthen my ability to guide students in their research endeavors and improve the overall quality of research output at our institution.

This in-house FDP also offered a platform for collaborative learning, where faculty members could share their experiences and best practices. The interactive sessions and group discussions were particularly useful in deepening my understanding of integrating research methodology into both teaching and student support.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the organizers and the institution for hosting such a valuable and insightful program, which has undoubtedly contributed to my professional development and teaching effectiveness.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Intellectual Property Rights

Organized by: Dnyansagar Institute of Management and Research

Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi

Date: 19th November 2022 to 23rd November 2022

I had the privilege of attending the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR), organized by Dnyansagar Institute of Management and Research from 19th to 23rd November 2022. This program provided a comprehensive understanding of the key aspects of intellectual property rights, a crucial area for educators, researchers, and professionals in today's knowledge-driven economy.

The sessions covered a wide range of topics, including the types of intellectual property (patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets), the process of securing IP rights, and the legal implications of intellectual property violations. The program also provided insight into the significance of IPR in academia and industry, emphasizing its role in protecting innovative ideas and fostering a culture of creativity.

The interactive workshops and case studies helped me grasp the practical aspects of IPR, while also exploring current trends and challenges in protecting intellectual property in a rapidly evolving digital landscape. The knowledge gained from this FDP will be invaluable as I continue to incorporate IPR principles into my teaching and research, as well as guide students in understanding the importance of intellectual property in their careers.

I extend my gratitude to Dnyansagar Institute of Management and Research for organizing such an enriching program. It has significantly enhanced my understanding of intellectual property rights and will help me contribute more effectively to the academic and professional growth of my students.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Design Thinking for Business Innovation

Organized by: Wingsss College of Aviation Technology

Faculty Name: Ms. Shruti Doshi

Date: 18th October 2021 to 23rd October 2021

I had the opportunity to attend the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Design Thinking for Business Innovation, organized by Wingsss College of Aviation Technology from 18th to 23rd October 2021. The program focused on exploring design thinking as a powerful methodology for driving innovation in business, especially in the context of education and the aviation industry.

Throughout the sessions, we were introduced to the core principles of design thinking, including empathy, ideation, prototyping, and testing. The sessions highlighted how these principles can be applied to create innovative solutions, enhance customer experience, and address complex business challenges. Special emphasis was given to how design thinking can foster creativity and collaboration within organizations, leading to better problem-solving and more effective business strategies.

The practical exercises and real-world case studies enabled us to better understand the potential applications of design thinking in business innovation. This FDP not only enhanced my skills in approaching challenges with a user-centered mindset but also provided me with valuable tools to incorporate into my teaching to nurture future leaders in business and aviation.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Wingsss College of Aviation Technology for organizing this insightful program. The knowledge and strategies gained will undoubtedly have a lasting impact on my approach to business innovation, and I look forward to applying these insights in both my academic and professional endeavors.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Intellectual Property Rights

Organized by: ASMA Institute of Management

Faculty Name: Mr. Ajay Kumar

Date: 19th December 2022 to 23rd December 2022

I had the opportunity to attend the in-house Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR), organized by ASMA Institute of Management from 19th December 2022 to 23rd December 2022. The program focused on the importance of intellectual property in the modern academic and business landscape, highlighting the legal frameworks that safeguard innovations and creative works.

Throughout the program, we explored various types of intellectual property, including patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets, and discussed their relevance in the educational context. The FDP helped us understand how educational institutions and individual researchers can protect their intellectual assets and the strategic role IPR plays in fostering innovation and entrepreneurship.

Interactive sessions and case studies further deepened our understanding of the procedures and challenges involved in securing intellectual property. The FDP also covered best practices for leveraging IPR to enhance academic research and collaborations.

I would like to express my gratitude to ASMA Institute of Management for organizing this insightful in-house FDP. The knowledge gained will certainly be beneficial in both academic and professional contexts, particularly in guiding students and colleagues on matters related to intellectual property.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Research Methodology Workshop

Organized by: ASMA Institute of Management

Faculty Name: Mr. Ajay Kumar

Date: 2nd February 2023

I was pleased to attend the in-house Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Research Methodology, organized by ASMA Institute of Management on 2nd February 2023. The workshop focused on enhancing the research skills of faculty members, providing valuable tools and techniques for conducting high-quality research in the field of management and beyond.

The session covered the essentials of research methodology, including formulating research questions, designing surveys and experiments, data collection, and analysis techniques. We also learned about the importance of ethical considerations in research, along with effective strategies for writing and presenting research papers.

The FDP encouraged interactive discussions, allowing participants to share their research experiences and challenges. Through hands-on exercises and real-world examples, we were able to better understand the practical application of various research methodologies in academic settings.

I would like to express my appreciation to ASMA Institute of Management for conducting this informative and enriching workshop. The skills acquired during this FDP will significantly contribute to my future research work and enhance the research capabilities within our institution.

Report on Faculty Development Program: ICT – Enhanced Teaching Tools and Technologies

Organized by: Dnyansagar Institute of Management and Research

Faculty Name: Mr. Ajay Kumar

Date: 19th September 2022 to 24th September 2022

I had the opportunity to participate in the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on ICT Enhanced Teaching Tools and Technologies, organized by Dnyansagar Institute of Management and Research from 19th September 2022 to 24th September 2022. This program focused on the integration of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) into teaching practices, emphasizing modern tools and technologies that can enhance the learning experience.

Throughout the workshop, we explored various ICT tools and resources that can be effectively utilized to improve teaching methodologies. The sessions highlighted the importance of digital platforms, virtual learning environments, and online teaching tools in fostering an engaging and interactive classroom. We were introduced to cutting-edge technologies that aid in content delivery, student engagement, and assessment.

Additionally, the FDP covered the latest trends in blended learning, e-learning platforms, and virtual collaboration tools, which are essential for adapting to the evolving educational landscape, especially in the context of hybrid teaching methods.

I would like to express my gratitude to Dnyansagar Institute of Management and Research for organizing this invaluable workshop. The insights gained will certainly enhance my teaching approach and enable me to incorporate more effective ICT tools and technologies into my academic practices.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Recent Advancement in Science and Engineering

Organized by: Regional College for Education Research and Technology, Jaipur

Faculty Name: Mr. Ajay Kumar

Date: 26th December 2022 to 30th December 2022

I had the privilege of attending the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Recent Advancement in Science and Engineering, organized by the Regional College for Education Research and Technology, Jaipur, from 26th December 2022 to 30th December 2022. This program was designed to provide faculty members with an in-depth understanding of the latest trends and innovations in the fields of science and engineering.

The FDP covered a range of topics that highlighted the rapid advancements in technology, engineering practices, and scientific research. Sessions included discussions on cutting-edge technologies such as AI, machine learning, robotics, and advancements in material science, along with their applications in education. The program also emphasized the importance of research and development in shaping the future of science and engineering.

Through interactive lectures, workshops, and case studies, I gained valuable insights into how these advancements can be integrated into academic curricula to enhance teaching and research. The discussions also included strategies for fostering a culture of innovation and research among students, preparing them for the future workforce.

The knowledge and skills I acquired during this FDP will not only enhance my own teaching methods but also help in guiding students toward exploring emerging fields of science and engineering. I would like to extend my gratitude to the Regional College for Education Research and Technology for organizing such a comprehensive and informative program.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Design Thinking For Business Innovation

Organized by: Wings Aviation & Hospitality

Faculty Name: Ms. Jyoti Kanade

Date: 6th November 2023 to 11th November 2023

I had the privilege of attending the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Design Thinking for Business Innovation, organized by Wings Aviation & Hospitality from 6th to 11th November 2023. This program focused on equipping educators and professionals with the skills to integrate design thinking methodologies into business innovation strategies.

During the sessions, we were introduced to the core concepts of design thinking, such as empathy, defining the problem, ideation, prototyping, and testing. The sessions were designed to help us understand how these concepts can be used to drive innovative solutions and enhance business processes. Emphasis was placed on the application of design thinking within the aviation and hospitality sectors, where creativity and problem-solving are essential for customer satisfaction and operational efficiency.

Through engaging discussions and hands-on activities, I gained a deeper understanding of how to apply design thinking to real-world business challenges. This approach not only nurtures creativity but also enables organizations to develop user-centered solutions that drive long-term success.

I would like to express my gratitude to Wings Aviation & Hospitality for organizing this enriching program. The insights and strategies gained will prove invaluable in my professional journey, and I look forward to integrating them into my academic work and future business projects.

Report on Faculty Development Program: Collaborative and Interdisciplinary Learning

Organized by: Wings College of Aviation Technology

Faculty Name: Ms. Jyoti Kanade

Date: 17th February 2024

I had the honor of attending the Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Collaborative and Interdisciplinary Learning, organized by Wings College of Aviation Technology on 17th February 2024. The program focused on fostering a collaborative and interdisciplinary approach to teaching and learning, which is essential in today's dynamic academic environment.

The sessions provided deep insights into the importance of interdisciplinary learning, which combines multiple perspectives and skills to solve complex problems. We explored various strategies to encourage collaboration among students from different disciplines, enhancing their critical thinking and problem-solving abilities.

Through interactive discussions, case studies, and group activities, I gained practical knowledge on how to integrate collaborative methods into my own teaching practices. The program also highlighted how interdisciplinary learning can be a powerful tool in preparing students for real-world challenges, especially in fields like aviation, hospitality, and business.

I would like to extend my gratitude to Wings College of Aviation Technology for organizing such a valuable FDP. The knowledge and strategies I gained will undoubtedly contribute to enhancing my teaching methodologies and the overall learning experience for my students.
